OVER A THOUSAND

ATTENDANCE AT JOINT TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION MEETING.

FIRST SESSION AT 9:17

Speakers at Morning Session Included G. H. Reavis and Dr. Hartzog, Who Lectured on "Mark Twain."

The Joint Teachers' association, whose sessions are being held in the auditorium of the Normal school building, began its first session auspiciously this morning with over a thousand teachers and students in attendance.

Practically all of the classes of the Normal school were dismissed today and will be dismissed tomorrow in order that the students may take advantage of many good things that have been brought together for this teachers' association.

This morning's program commenced at 9:15 with the devotional exercises, which were conducted by Rev. J. D. Randolph. President Ira Richardson of the Normal school gave all the teachers and students a very cordial welcome to the school and to all the sessions of the association.

C. H. Allen, superintendent of the Gentry schools, responded to President Richardson's welcome in a very earnest manner and paid a tribute to the Normal school as a training school for teachers, calling it the educational mecca of this district.

The Normal School Glee club, under the direction of Professor P. O. Landon, gave the following three numbers, which were well received by the audience: "Love's Old Sweet Song," Mallory; "Lullaby," arranged from Brahms by H. F. Gilbert, and "A Merry Life," Denza.

At 10:30 G. H. Reavis, the state high school inspector, gave a very interesting discussion of the subject "The Teacher's Preparation of the Lesson." Mr. Reavis said that his recollection of his first teachers' association dated back ten years, when the sessions were held in the old Seminary building.

"Every civilized country," said Mr. Reavis, "makes a legal requirement which all teachers must pass. This is significant of the importance which is placed on the profession."

At 11 o'clock Dr. Henry Hartzog, a former president of Arkansas university, but now of St. Louis, gave his lecture on "Mark Twain." Dr. Hartzog is a charming speaker, and an excellent story teller, and furnished a laugh with every serious thought. The quaint humor of the great Clemens loses none of its charm in coming from Dr. Hartzog.

The speaker said in part:

"Although Mark Twain is a world character, he was distinctly Missourian through and through. The scenes for his greatest books are laid in Missouri, and the inspiration for some of his best works were gotten in his native state.

"A common impression of Mark Twain is that he is wholly an entertainer and that the humor of his works is their only charm. No reputable critic now holds that idea.

"Mark Twain did not stoop to the cheap tricks of comedians, did not use puns, dislocated English or resort to buffoonery to obtain his humorous situations, but rather played with ideas. Word-twists, although mirth provoking for the time being, do not live in literature as does the true humor of Twain."

This afternoon's session, aside from the address of Dr. Edward A. Steiner, was taken up with problems and matters pertaining to school work.

This evening the declamatory contest will take place in the Normal at 7:30 o'clock, and the exercises will open with music by Maulding's orchestra.

Every train arriving in the city last evening and this morning were crowded with teachers from this county and the outside counties coming here for the meeting. The evening Wabash train had the most passengers and the bus men estimated that there were nearly 500 that got off the train here.

SPOKE TO THE TEACHERS.

Dr. Steiner Thinks World Has Progressed Little in the Brotherhood of Man.

Dr. Edward Alfred Steiner, professor of applied Christianity of Grinnell college of Grinnell, Ia., was one of the afternoon speakers this afternoon at the teachers' meeting at the Normal. Dr. Steiner arrived in the city this noon from Kansas City, and in addition to his address today will give another

80 YEARS SUNDAY

REV. FROWIN CONRAD WILL CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY THEN.

40 YEARS IN CONCEPTION

Interesting Story of the Growth of the Abbey is Part of the Life History of Venerable Abbot.

Sunday will be a notable day for the Conception Abbey church of Conception, as it is the eightieth birthday anniversary of Rev. Frowin Conrad, the abbot of Conception parish and abbey. Special observance of his anniversary will be held on that day and the services will be simple and quiet, according to the wishes of Abbot Frowin.

The Rev. Frowin Conrad was born on November 2, 1833, at Auw, Canton Argau, Switzerland, of pious parents, who gave the Catholic church five priests and to their country a statesman of national reputation. Having concluded his studies at various places in his native country, he joined the Benedictines of the abbey Engelberg, made his monastic vows on August 15, 1953, and was ordained priest on September 14, 1856. He held various honorable positions in his monastery until he was called to the United States in 1873, being invited by Rt. Rev. Bishop Hogan to come here to establish a monastery in his diocese. In addition to Rev. Frowin Conrad, Rev. Adelheim Odermatt, O. S. B., also came to this country, and they arrived at St. Joseph in September, 1873, and Bishop Hogan gave them charge of the Catholic missions in Nodaway county and the surrounding counties. Father Adelheim was made pastor at Maryville, and Father Frowin became the head of the parish and monastery at Conception, that town at that time having ninety-five families.

The Rt. Rev. Frowin Conrad has been in charge of the church affairs at Conception for forty years.

The first care of Father Frowin at Conception, when he arrived on September 18, 1873, was to erect a suitable dwelling for the monastic family. It was a two-story frame building (25x50), which he dedicated on December 8, 1873. On Christmas night of the same year he began the recitation of the divine office, and on New Year's day, 1874, seven candidates from Europe were invested with the holy habit. Two years later, December 7, 1875, three Benedictine Sisters from Rickenbach, in

ONLY ONE OF KIND

NORMAL SCHOOL IS DIFFERENT FROM OTHERS IN UNITED STATES.

PRAISE MR. RICHARDSON

Journal of Education Speaks Highly of Normal President and Tells Advantages of the School.

The Journal of Education of Boston, Mass., in their issue of October 23, speaks highly of the Normal school, President Richardson and the agricultural department of the school. That publication is the leading educational paper in the country. The following is what they say about the Normal school:

Northwest Missouri is an especially prosperous and promising part of the central west. It partakes of the conditions and thrift of Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas as well as of Missouri.

While St. Joseph is its metropolis it is also suburban to Omaha and Des Moines, all three cities vying with one another for a share of its prosperity.

Here is the last of the five state normal schools born in Missouri, and it was given one of the best plants in the state, with 119 acres of campus, garden, groves, fields and farms, a beautiful presidential residence and one of the best normal school buildings in the country.

With the selection of Ira Richardson as president the school has one of the best equipped professional leaders of teacher-students in the country.

President Richardson is a Missouri product, having lived there since 8 years of age, was educated in a rural school, town school and village in Missouri, after which he distinguished himself as a student in the teachers' college, Columbia university, New York City.

He has taught in rural school, village school, secondary school, and in the State Normal school at Springfield, Mo., and was at the head of the training department of the Maryville State Normal school when he was promoted to the presidency.

President Richardson comes to the leadership of Northwest Missouri at a good time.

Southwestern Iowa is ready to make large contributions to its enrollment, and is to take its graduates most readily.

The same is true of Northeastern Kansas. St. Joseph has never identified itself closely with any state normal school either in enrollment or in the employment of graduates. Now Superintendent Whiteford has allied himself closely with the school, as have several of the principals and teachers.

There is every reason why President Richardson and his associates should bring great prosperity and prominence to the Maryville Normal school, and no suspicion of a reason why they should not.

But there is one especial reason why exceptional prominence should come to the school. It is the one State Normal school in all America that is a branch of the state department of agriculture. The only school to compare with it in this regard is at Hays, Kan., and that is different.

The Maryville Normal school is the experiment station of the agricultural department of the state university, and John E. Cameron of the Normal school is in charge of the professional work of the experiment station with its forty-four acres of rich and ready land. If any other school, normal or agricultural, has a better combination for the training of teachers of agriculture, I have not discovered it.

Of this feature of Maryville I hope to write at length later, but there is one other feature that is most unusual. There are, nearby, three of the best large farms for raising full-blooded cattle, one for raising full-blooded horses and one of the best farms for raising blooded swine, and all of the farms are utilized by the Maryville Normal school.

To Excelsior Springs.

Mrs. William Doran and Mrs. Charles Cambron of Denver, Col., went to Excelsior Springs Thursday morning for an indefinite stay.

OUR GUESTS, THE TEACHERS.

We have with us this week the teachers of this and a number of adjoining counties. We are always glad to extend the glad hand to all guests, and especially to the school teachers. They are an important factor in the civil and social progress of the country. As co-workers with the home and the church in the development of the youth of the country into a better and higher citizenship the importance of their work cannot be over-estimated.

No country pays more attention to its educational system and the advancement of its schools than our own and no country produces a better citizenship. No country commands the respect and esteem of the world in a greater degree.

The law which brings together the teachers of the several counties each year should be productive of much good both to themselves and to the public. It affords an interchange of ideas and practical experiences which cannot be other than helpful in future work, and at the time supplies a relaxation and recreation that will enable all to go back to their work with new vigor and new interest. The discussions bring the public and the teachers into a better understanding of the problems of both teacher and taxpayer, and should strengthen the sympathy between the home and the school room. This means greater efficiency in the schools and more liberal support for them.

The earnest, capable teacher who takes his work seriously is doing a great service. May his tribe increase and may his emoluments grow greater.

RAVENWOOD.

Some time ago a winter Chautauqua was advertized for this place, and this week our people are enjoying both winter and Chautauqua. We have not sampled the Chautauqua, but find the winter of the old Missouri style but a little early.

Everything is moving on smoothly here as usual. Farmers have their wheat sown and are beginning to husk their corn.

Dr. Bishop has been remodeling his large barn, has put in new concrete foundation and many other improvements. Mac Ervin has been boss workman.

S. P. Ross & Co. are doing business in their new building.

Our new pastor, C. O. Ransford, is holding a revival meeting at Bethel, east of Guilford. He is starting off well.

J. E. Sims and family of McFall visited over Sunday with his parents and other relatives and friends here. Mr. McHughs of McFall brought them up Saturday evening in his auto, and Sunday morning he went to Sheridan on other business.

Star Theater.

Return engagement of the Chicago Bio-Scenograph company with entire change of program is announced by Manager Miller for next week, starting Monday. Will be "The Top o' the World" and ten other big subjects. The prices will remain at 10 and 5 cents throughout.

Miss Mabel Brummett of the Mowery school is the guest of Miss Agnes Hendley for the teachers' meeting.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

on Friday morning at 11 o'clock on "Function and Privilege."

Dr. Steiner is a sociologist of national note and a Jewish immigrant.

He thinks that the world has progressed little in the brotherhood of man since the day of the cavemen.

"We have so-called brotherhoods, but in most cases the label would not pass the pure food law," he said. "We vote and carry aid to oppressed and unenlightened people on the other side of the earth and shut our eyes to a far greater problem at our front and back doors, where we have a despised race for whom no insult is too bad. There is a studied attempt to humiliate them. We divide the last drop of blood which is not white. Can we realize the brotherhood of man on this basis?

"We have failed to touch to any appreciable degree the growing spirit of class and clan and that dislike of the unlike which at any moment may flame into deadliest hate. Men are drawn to each other, not by the ties of faith, but by pursestrings; not by common spiritual experiences, but by common social diversions.

"Living among a racial conglomerate created by a demand for cheap labor, we are guided in our relations to them by ancient tribal motives inherited from the savage.

"A reason for our failure to achieve brotherhood lies in the lamentable fact that the church of Jesus Christ has not been able to break through the barriers of caste or class or race, not to mention the severer judgment of unprejudiced observers that she has intensified differences and created new points of conflict.

"Can the church be made to play again the supreme role that she ought to play in this unifying process which the gospel of Jesus Christ was to accomplish or is she so divided within herself that she will fail?

"The whole color scheme of God has been put in America for some noble purpose. It will be a fierce and heart breaking task to make this land democratic, but because the task will be severe, it is worthy of the Christian church and a new brotherhood, a new race and a new people may yet be born and rise in America and under faith in God."

80 YEARS SUNDAY

Switzerland, opened a novitiate for nuns in a building close to the church, and took charge of the parish schools. In 1879 the Wabash was built through the county and the station was located two and one-half miles northeast of the monastery, and a town called Clyde built there.

With the increase of the monastic family, the want of house room was felt more keenly every day. Finally, in 1880, the west wing of the present stone and brick building was erected. On April 5, 1881, Pope Leo XIII crowned the monastic foundation by raising it to the dignity of an abbey, with Rev. Frowin Conrad as its first abbot. The solemn benediction and installation of the new abbot occurred on June 29, 1881. His place in the parish was taken in November, 1881, by the present pastor, the Rev. Placid Schmid, O. S. B. On May 12, 1882, the monastery was incorporated under the laws of the state of Missouri, and the name of "New Engleberg Abbey" was later changed into the name of "Conception Abbey." The same year, 1882, saw the construction of a substantial convent and of an academy for young ladies. In 1883 the college for boys was built; in 1890 the girls' orphanage; in 1899 the parish hall; in 1902 a new boys' college, a new Sisters' convent and Sisters' cemetery chapel was erected on the very spot where the high altar of the old church had stood. Since then also two more wings were added to the abbey, and within the last two years two wings have been added to the convent and a new building, St. Joseph's academy is now under course of erection.

Outside of Nodaway county, the Benedictines of Conception abbey have a privory with four parishes in Idaho, six Indian missions in Dakota, and twelve parishes or missions in different parts of Missouri.

In 1874, the Rt. Rev. Frowin Conrad established at Conception a school for the education of the younger members of his monastery. This was enlarged into a seminary in the fall of 1880, and transformed into a regular college in September, 1883. The faculty of the college at present, under the presidency of the Rt. Rev. Frowin Conrad, numbers eighteen priests, all members of Conception abbey .

The other ladies in line were Mrs. Anderson Craig, Mr. Howard and Mrs. J. M. Ringgold. When all had arrived the afternoon program was taken up, the devotional service being led by Mrs. S. A. Helwig, with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie." "The Bible," was the subject of the study. Mrs. Harry Miller gave a paper on "The Power of the Bible," with references from that book of books. A duet, "My Mother's Bible," was sung by Mrs. H. L. Raines and Mrs. E. L. Harrington, Miss Marie Jones accompanying. A paper, "A Home Without a Bible, and What It Means," was presented by Mrs. Hale, in which, by contrast, was shown the influence of Bible teaching in the home and its influence there. All united in singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Mrs. G. B. Holmes then gave a beautiful tribute to the memory of Mrs. Eva Andrews Hawkins, whose death occurred last week, telling of her girlhood, her young womanhood, then as a wife and mother, and last as an invalid in the home of her parents, every part of her life being fit for an example for any one to follow. A prayer, led by Rev. Hale, closed the service. The rest of the afternoon was enjoyed socially and a luncheon was served in the dining room by Miss Marie Jones, Miss Dorothy Pierce, Miss Orrell Helwig, Miss Eva Davis and Miss Hazel Everhart. CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS.

Ideal Condition Would Be High School in Each County Unit.

The larger school unit seems to be the best remedy for the inefficiency of rural school education, according to a bulletin just published by the University. The bulletin, one of the extension series, by Prof. R. H. Emberson, assistant professor in rural education of the state university, formerly of the Northwest Normal school, points out the advantages of consolidation in rural school districts and explains the new laws on the subject.

Poor equipment, poor buildings and the lack of attention on the part of the people who should be interested have done much harm to rural education. It is the plea of those interested in consolidation that these things can be remedied only by consolidation. The people pushing the work of consolidating the rural schools would have three or four districts combined into one district having one board of three or four boards. Such a district could be given the same business management that is given to the matter of education in the city.

The ideal condition of consolidation would be a high school in each unified district. Under present conditions only 5 per cent of country children are able to get the advantages of a good high school by leaving home and going to the city. Under consolidated conditions every boy and girl living in the country could get high school instruction, including courses in agriculture, domestic science and manual training.

The consolidated school would become the social center of the district. The new law requires consolidated schools to have an assembly room, where debating societies, clubs, musical organizations and farmers' institutes may meet. Little attention is given to the present one-room school. Parents rarely visit the school and any teacher can easily be made discouraged by the apparent lack of interest in the work of the school. Friends of the consolidation plan believe that by using the school as a common meeting ground they can draw the residents of a district into a more compact and progressive social group.

Each country school averages at the present time three pupils every year finishing the work of a country school. At the rate of $200 expenditure each year to send a child from home to a good high school, the districts comprising a consolidated district must spend either $1,800 or $2,400 yearly to educate in the high school the pupils that finish the grade school. Consolidation would make possible the hiring of two efficient high school teachers for the district at a lower cost than the districts are now paying. Not only would the cost be lowered but more pupils would receive the benefit of a high school education.

The first effort toward consolidation in Missouri was made in 1902. Four districts organized the Ruskin high school near Hickman Mills in Jackson county.

OVER A THOUSAND

ATTENDANCE AT JOINT TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION MEETING.

FIRST SESSION AT 9:17

Speakers at Morning Session Included G. H. Reavis and Dr. Hartzog, Who Lectured on "Mark Twain."

The Joint Teachers' association, whose sessions are being held in the auditorium of the Normal school building, began its first session auspiciously this morning with over a thousand teachers and students in attendance.

Practically all of the classes of the Normal school were dismissed today and will be dismissed tomorrow in order that the students may take advantage of many good things that have been brought together for this teachers' association.

This morning's program commenced at 9:15 with the devotional exercises, which were conducted by Rev. J. D. Randolph. President Ira Richardson of the Normal school gave all the teachers and students a very cordial welcome to the school and to all the sessions of the association.

C. H. Allen, superintendent of the Gentry schools, responded to President Richardson's welcome in a very earnest manner and paid a tribute to the Normal school as a training school for teachers, calling it the educational mecca of this district.

The Normal School Glee club, under the direction of Professor P. O. Landon, gave the following three numbers, which were well received by the audience: "Love's Old Sweet Song," Mallory; "Lullaby," arranged from Brahms by H. F. Gilbert, and "A Merry Life," Denza.

At 10:30 G. H. Reavis, the state high school inspector, gave a very interesting discussion of the subject "The Teacher's Preparation of the Lesson." Mr. Reavis said that his recollection of his first teachers' association dated back ten years, when the sessions were held in the old Seminary building.

"Every civilized country," said Mr. Reavis, "makes a legal requirement which all teachers must pass. This is significant of the importance which is placed on the profession."

At 11 o'clock Dr. Henry Hartzog, a former president of Arkansas university, but now of St. Louis, gave his lecture on "Mark Twain." Dr. Hartzog is a charming speaker, and an excellent story teller, and furnished a laugh with every serious thought. The quaint humor of the great Clemens loses none of its charm in coming from Dr. Hartzog.

The speaker said in part:

"Although Mark Twain is a world character, he was distinctly Missourian through and through. The scenes for his greatest books are laid in Missouri, and the inspiration for some of his best works were gotten in his native state.

"A common impression of Mark Twain is that he is wholly an entertainer and that the humor of his works is their only charm. No reputable critic now holds that idea.

"Mark Twain did not stoop to the cheap tricks of comedians, did not use puns, dislocated English or resort to buffoonery to obtain his humorous situations, but rather played with ideas. Word-twists, although mirth provoking for the time being, do not live in literature as does the true humor of Twain."

This afternoon's session, aside from the address of Dr. Edward A. Steiner, was taken up with problems and matters pertaining to school work.

This evening the declamatory contest will take place in the Normal at 7:30 o'clock, and the exercises will open with music by Maulding's orchestra.

Every train arriving in the city last evening and this morning were crowded with teachers from this county and the outside counties coming here for the meeting. The evening Wabash train had the most passengers and the bus men estimated that there were nearly 500 that got off the train here.

SPOKE TO THE TEACHERS.

Dr. Steiner Thinks World Has Progressed Little in the Brotherhood of Man.

Dr. Edward Alfred Steiner, professor of applied Christianity of Grinnell college of Grinnell, Ia., was one of the afternoon speakers this afternoon at the teachers' meeting at the Normal. Dr. Steiner arrived in the city this noon from Kansas City, and in addition to his address today will give another

Part of the machinery was received this week and consists of big collar machine, a bosom press machine, a neck band piece and yoke press machine, a cuff press. 80 YEARS SUNDAY

REV. FROWIN CONRAD WILL CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY THEN.

40 YEARS IN CONCEPTION

Interesting Story of the Growth of the Abbey is Part of the Life History of Venerable Abbot.

Sunday will be a notable day for the Conception Abbey church of Conception, as it is the eightieth birthday anniversary of Rev. Frowin Conrad, the abbot of Conception parish and abbey. Special observance of his anniversary will be held on that day and the services will be simple and quiet, according to the wishes of Abbot Frowin.

The Rev. Frowin Conrad was born on November 2, 1833, at Auw, Canton Argau, Switzerland, of pious parents, who gave the Catholic church five priests and to their country a statesman of national reputation. Having concluded his studies at various places in his native country, he joined the Benedictines of the abbey Engelberg, made his monastic vows on August 15, 1953, and was ordained priest on September 14, 1856. He held various honorable positions in his monastery until he was called to the United States in 1873, being invited by Rt. Rev. Bishop Hogan to come here to establish a monastery in his diocese. In addition to Rev. Frowin Conrad, Rev. Adelhelm Odermatt, O. S. B., also came to this country, and they arrived at St. Joseph in September, 1873, and Bishop Hogan gave them charge of the Catholic missions in Nodaway county and the surrounding counties. Father Adelhelm was made pastor at Maryville, and Father Frowin became the head of the parish and monastery at Conception, that town at that time having ninety-five families.

The Rt. Rev. Frowin Conrad has been in charge of the church affairs at Conception for forty years.

The first care of Father Frowin at Conception, when he arrived on September 18, 1873, was to erect a suitable dwelling for the monastic family. It was a two-story frame building (25x50), which he dedicated on December 8, 1873. On Christmas night of the same year he began the recitation of the divine office, and on New Year's day, 1874, seven candidates from Europe were invested with the holy habit. Two years later, December 7, 1875, three Benedictine Sisters from Rickenbach, in

NORMAL SCHOOL IS DIFFERENT FROM OTHERS IN UNITED STATES.

The Journal of Education of Boston, Mass., in their issue of October 23, speaks highly of the Normal school, President Richardson and the agricultural department of the school. That publication is the leading educational paper in the country. The following is what they say about the Normal school:

Northwest Missouri is an especially prosperous and promising part of the central west. It partakes of the conditions and thrift of Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas as well as of Missouri.

While St. Joseph is its metropolis it is also suburban to Omaha and Des Moines, all three cities vying with one another for a share of its prosperity.

Here is the last of the five state normal schools born in Missouri, and it was given one of the best plants in the state, with 119 acres of campus, garden, groves, fields and farms, a beautiful presidential residence and one of the best normal school buildings in the country.

With the selection of Ira Richardson as president the school has one of the best equipped professional leaders of teacher-students in the country.

President Richardson is a Missouri product, having lived there since 8 years of age, was educated in a rural school, town school and village in Missouri, after which he distinguished himself as a student in the teachers' college, Columbia university, New York City.

He has taught in rural school, village school, secondary school, and in the State Normal school at Springfield, Mo., and was at the head of the training department of the Maryville State Normal school when he was promoted to the presidency.

President Richardson comes to the leadership of Northwest Missouri at a good time.

Southwestern Iowa is ready to make large contributions to its enrollment, and is to take its graduates most readily.

The same is true of Northeastern Kansas. St. Joseph has never identified itself closely with any state normal school either in enrollment or in the employment of graduates. Now Superintendent Whiteford has allied himself closely with the school, as have several of the principals and teachers.

There is every reason why President Richardson and his associates should bring great prosperity and prominence to the Maryville Normal school, and no suspicion of a reason why they should not.

But there is one especial reason why exceptional prominence should come to the school. It is the one State Normal school in all America that is a branch of the state department of agriculture. The only school to compare with it in this regard is at Hays, Kan., and that is different.

The Maryville Normal school is the experiment station of the agricultural department of the state university, and John E. Cameron of the Normal school is in charge of the professional work of the experiment station with its forty-four acres of rich and ready land. If any other school, normal or agricultural, has a better combination for the training of teachers of agriculture, I have not discovered it.

Of this feature of Maryville I hope to write at length later, but there is one other feature that is most unusual. There are, nearby, three of the best large farms for raising full-blooded cattle, one for raising full-blooded horses and one of the best farms for raising blooded swine, and all of the farms are utilized by the Maryville Normal school.

Mrs. William Doran and Mrs. Charles Cambron of Denver, Col., went to Excelsior Springs Thursday morning for an indefinite stay.

OUR GUESTS, THE TEACHERS.

We have with us this week the teachers of this and a number of adjoining counties. We are always glad to extend the glad hand to all guests, and especially to the school teachers. They are an important factor in the civil and social progress of the country. As co-workers with the home and the church in the development of the youth of the country into a better and higher citizenship the importance of their work cannot be over-estimated.

No country pays more attention to its educational system and the advancement of its schools than our own and no country produces a better citizenship. No country commands the respect and esteem of the world in a greater degree.

The law which brings together the teachers of the several counties each year should be productive of much good both to themselves and to the public. It affords an interchange of ideas and practical experiences which cannot be other than helpful in future work, and at the time supplies a relaxation and recreation that will enable all to go back to their work with new vigor and new interest. The discussions bring the public and the teachers into a better understanding of the problems of both teacher and taxpayer, and should strengthen the sympathy between the home and the school room. This means greater efficiency in the schools and more liberal support for them.

The earnest, capable teacher who takes his work seriously is doing a great service. May his tribe increase and may his emoluments grow greater.

RAVENWOOD.

Some time ago a winter Chautauqua was advertized for this place, and this week our people are enjoying both winter and Chautauqua. We have not sampled the Chautauqua, but find the winter of the old Missouri style but a little early.

Everything is moving on smoothly here as usual. Farmers have their wheat sown and are beginning to husk their corn.

Dr. Bishop has been remodeling his large barn, has put in new concrete foundation and many other improvements. Mac Ervin has been boss workman.

Our new pastor, C. O. Ransford, is holding a revival meeting at Bethel, east of Guilford. He is starting off well.

J. E. Sims and family of McFall visited over Sunday with his parents and other relatives and friends here. Mr. McHughs of McFall brought them up Saturday evening in his auto, and Sunday morning he went to Sheridan on other business.

Star Theater.

Return engagement of the Chicago Bio-Scenograph company with entire change of program is announced by Manager Miller for next week, starting Monday. Will be "The Top o' the World" and ten other big subjects. The prices will remain at 10 and 5 cents throughout.

Miss Mabel Brummett of the Mowery school is the guest of Miss Agnes Hendley for the teachers' meeting.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

OVER A THOUSAND

on Friday morning at 11 o'clock on "Function and Privilege."

He thinks that the world has progressed little in the brotherhood of man since the day of the cavemen.

"We have so-called brotherhoods, but in most cases the label would not pass the pure food law," he said. "We vote and carry aid to oppressed and unenlightened people on the other side of the earth and shut our eyes to a far greater problem at our front and back doors, where we have a despised race for whom no insult is too bad. There is a studied attempt to humiliate them. We divide the last drop of blood which is not white. Can we realize the brotherhood of man on this basis?

"We have failed to touch to any appreciable degree the growing spirit of class and clan and that dislike of the unlike which at any moment may flame into deadliest hate. Men are drawn to each other, not by the ties of faith, but by pursestrings; not by common spiritual experiences, but by common social diversions.

"Living among a racial conglomerate created by a demand for cheap labor, we are guided in our relations to them by ancient tribal motives inherited from the savage.

"A reason for our failure to achieve brotherhood lies in the lamentable fact that the church of Jesus Christ has not been able to break through the barriers of caste or class or race, not to mention the severer judgment of unprejudiced observers that she has intensified differences and created new points of conflict.

"Can the church be made to play again the supreme role that she ought to play in this unifying process which the gospel of Jesus Christ was to accomplish or is she so divided within herself that she will fail?

"The whole color scheme of God has been put in America for some noble purpose. It will be a fierce and heart breaking task to make this land democratic, but because the task will be severe, it is worthy of the Christian church and a new brotherhood, a new race and a new people may yet be born and rise in America and under faith in God."

Switzerland, opened a novitiate for nuns in a building close to the church, and took charge of the parish schools. In 1879 the Wabash was built through the county and the station was located two and one-half miles northeast of the monastery, and a town called Clyde built there.

With the increase of the monastic family, the want of house room was felt more keenly every day. Finally, in 1880, the west wing of the present stone and brick building was erected. On April 5, 1881, Pope Leo XIII crowned the monastic foundation by raising it to the dignity of an abbey, with Rev. Frowin Conrad as its first abbot. The solemn benediction and installation of the new abbot occurred on June 29, 1881. His place in the parish was taken in November, 1881, by the present pastor, the Rev. Placid Schmid, O. S. B. On May 12, 1882, the monastery was incorporated under the laws of the state of Missouri, and the name of "New Engleberg Abbey" was later changed into the name of "Conception Abbey." The same year, 1882, saw the construction of a substantial convent and of an academy for young ladies. In 1883 the college for boys was built; in 1890 the girls' orphanage; in 1899 the parish hall; in 1902 a new boys' college, a new Sisters' convent and Sisters' cemetery chapel was erected on the very spot where the high altar of the old church had stood. Since then also two more wings were added to the abbey, and within the last two years two wings have been added to the convent and a new building, St. Joseph's academy is now under course of erection.

Outside of Nodaway county, the Benedictines of Conception abbey have a privory with four parishes in Idaho, six Indian missions in Dakota, and twelve parishes or missions in different parts of Missouri.

In 1874, the Rt. Rev. Frowin Conrad established at Conception a school for the education of the younger members of his monastery. This was enlarged into a seminary in the fall of 1880, and transformed into a regular college in September, 1883. The faculty of the college at present, under the presidency of the Rt. Rev. Frowin Conrad, numbers eighteen priests, all members of Conception abbey.

The other ladies in line were Mrs. Anderson Craig, Mr. Howard and Mrs. J. M. Ringgold. When all had arrived the afternoon program was taken up, the devotional service being led by Mrs. S. A. Helwig, with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie." "The Bible," was the subject of the study. Mrs. Harry Miller gave a paper on "The Power of the Bible," with references from that book of books. A duet, "My Mother's Bible," was sung by Mrs. H. L. Raines and Mrs. E. L. Harrington, Miss Marie Jones accompanying. A paper, "A Home Without a Bible, and What It Means," was presented by Mrs. Hale, in which, by contrast, was shown the influence of Bible teaching in the home and its influence there. All united in singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Mrs. G. B. Holmes then gave a beautiful tribute to the memory of Mrs. Eva Andrews Hawkins, whose death occurred last week, telling of her girlhood, her young womanhood, then as a wife and mother, and last as an invalid in the home of her parents, every part of her life being fit for an example for any one to follow. A prayer, led by Rev. Hale, closed the service. The rest of the afternoon was enjoyed socially and a luncheon was served in the dining room by Miss Marie Jones, Miss Dorothy Pierce, Miss Orrell Helwig, Miss Eva Davis and Miss Hazel Everhart. CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS.

Ideal Condition Would Be High School in Each County Unit.

The larger school unit seems to be the best remedy for the inefficiency of rural school education, according to a bulletin just published by the University. The bulletin, one of the extension series, by Prof. R. H. Emberson, assistant professor in rural education of the state university, formerly of the Northwest Normal school, points out the advantages of consolidation in rural school districts and explains the new laws on the subject.

Poor equipment, poor buildings and the lack of attention on the part of the people who should be interested have done much harm to rural education. It is the plea of those interested in consolidation that these things can be remedied only by consolidation. The people pushing the work of consolidating the rural schools would have three or four districts combined into one district having one board of three or four boards. Such a district could be given the same business management that is given to the matter of education in the city.

The ideal condition of consolidation would be a high school in each unified district. Under present conditions only 5 per cent of country children are able to get the advantages of a good high school by leaving home and going to the city. Under consolidated conditions every boy and girl living in the country could get high school instruction, including courses in agriculture, domestic science and manual training.

The consolidated school would become the social center of the district. The new law requires consolidated schools to have an assembly room, where debating societies, clubs, musical organizations and farmers' institutes may meet. Little attention is given to the present one-room school. Parents rarely visit the school and any teacher can easily be made discouraged by the apparent lack of interest in the work of the school. Friends of the consolidation plan believe that by using the school as a common meeting ground they can draw the residents of a district into a more compact and progressive social group.

Each country school averages at the present time three pupils every year finishing the work of a country school. At the rate of $200 expenditure each year to send a child from home to a good high school, the districts comprising a consolidated district must spend either $1,800 or $2,400 yearly to educate in the high school the pupils that finish the grade school. Consolidation would make possible the hiring of two efficient high school teachers for the district at a lower cost than the districts are now paying. Not only would the cost be lowered but more pupils would receive the benefit of a high school education.

The first effort toward consolidation in Missouri was made in 1902. Four districts organized the Ruskin high school near Hickman Mills in Jackson county.
